INTRODUCTION

1. This collection of inventories and wills is the culmination of a project undertaken by members of the Ingleborough Archaeology Group. The team of transcribers were:

The initial transcriptions were done individually and were then edited and collated by Carol Howard and Sheila Gordon. These are the documents relating to the parish of Ingleton that have survived among the records of the Archdeaconry of Richmond, most of which are stored in the Lancashire Archives Office in Preston. In the Tudor period however Ingleton lay within the parish of Bentham in the deanery of Lonsdale. The transcribers worked mainly from photographs taken of the original documents by the editors and from photostats supplied by John Bentley, to whom we owe grateful thanks for his initiative in providing the inspiration for this project. The Borthwick Institute proved a second valuable resource, with other material drawn from the National Archive Probate Office and the North Yorkshire County Record Office in Northallerton. We hope that by making the transcripts easily available, we have created a valuable research tool for local and family historians and reflected something of the voices from the past.
2. Archival References.

Unless stated otherwise all the transcripted documents form part of the collection held in the Lancashire Archives Office. The reference code is Lancashire Archives WRW/L.

3. Editorial method.

Consistency has been a prime consideration in editing the transcripts. Capital letters: the use of these has been retained despite difficulties posed by letters that show no clear differentiation, a prime example being the letter w.

Spelling: The original spelling has been retained but spelling should not be confused with abbreviations. In the text placenames and surnames are spelled as in the document, with abbreviations extended where possible. Christian names have been given as read except for Xpofer, which is extended to the more familiar Christopher.

Abbreviations: All abbreviations have where possible been extended. Ciphers and codes were popular and in frequent use during the seventeenth century, possibly a reflection of the instability of the time; an interest reflected in the widespread use of commonly accepted abbreviations. A practice also advantageous in the more economic use of parchment. Unfortunately this can give a very distorted view of the general standard of literacy especially to the non-specialist reader. Distinguishing between the deliberate use of abbreviations and spelling anomalies may appear subjective but the following method has been applied. Where an abbreviation is in common use, it has been extended. Item is given in full throughout, although the occasional Item/Itam is retained as a spelling error. Where the letter i is shown as y, it too is retained but not where y is a thorn replacing th as in ye. Wth is always shown as which and imprimis or inprimis is used throughout.

Dates: The dates given in the sub-headings are taken from the documents concerned. The wills show the actual date not the date of probate.

Punctuation: The documents were in the main well punctuated so an effort was made to retain the original punctuation despite practical difficulties caused by the deterioration of the documents. No attempt was made to correct the punctuation.

Numerals: Arabic numerals are the norm but where Roman numerals are used, these are transcribed as such. With the very occasional exception, where the £ sign is clearly indicated, the original li is retained, as in li. s. d. the old monetary system of pounds, shillings and pence.
4. The Inventories

Inventories were taken very shortly after the death of the testator by four sworn men acting as jurors, usually local men, often neighbours. They normally begin with a reference to the value of the apparell of the deceased and the contents of their purse. This is usually followed by a list and valuation of the farming stock, then the household goods, sometimes obviously room by room. The general term of household “huslements” encapsulates any furniture or other equipment too menial to be listed separately. Similarly the term “husbandry geare” is used to indicate the value of miscellaneous objects about the farm. Any debts owed to the deceased then follow, succeeded by the list of debts owed. The inventory usually concludes with the final total of the value of goods less the testator’s debts.

5. The Wills

The text of the wills usually follows a set pattern, with the same opening phrase “In the name of god amen” followed by the date and the name of the testator, the parish and the county, sometimes the local area or residence is specified and the social position of the deceased, usually yeoman or husbandman. The preamble that follows, stating that the deceased is of sound mind though sick in body is standard but the first bequest, which is invariably a dedication of the soul to God, varies in its intensity as reflecting the emotion and outlook of the time. Bequests usually follow and it is this section that throws light on the domestic life of the rural community; on family ties, property holdings, financial burdens or advantages, charitable giving and sometimes the personalities involved. The natural provision for the widow, her widow-right, is normally specifically tied to her remaining single and ceases on her re-marriage; an attempt to retain the property within the family. Finally an executor is named and provision made for the inevitable funeral expenses. A list of witnesses concludes the business, some making their mark but many writing their name in full. The overwhelming impression is that of a literate and well informed section of society.

6. The Parish of Ingleton

The parish lies in the western extremity of North Yorkshire. Covering over fourteen thousand acres, with land rising from approximately 209 metres in the river valley to the peak of Whernside at 736 metres, to the west and the summit of Ingleborough at 723 metres, to the east, it is essentially high moorland, sheep grazing country, with cattle on the lower pastures. The population of the township of Ingleton has been estimated at c.450 in 1530 and c.650 in 1623. By 1700 it had risen to c.7750.¹

Running through the parish are the rivers Twiss and Doe, converging to form the river Greta in the centre of Ingleton. The best grazing land lies along the valleys and on the limestone terraces of Whernside and Ingleborough. Here scattered farms and remote settlements were established within three manors; Ingleton, Twisleton-with-Ellerbeck and Newby Upper.

The area or place of residence is normally given in the will as supporting the identification of the deceased. Most are little more than farm holdings and the few hamlets number only a handful of farms and cottages. To the north-west of Ingleton a farm track runs along the base of Whernside from Ribblehead to Ellerbeck, then continues on across Scales Moor and Twisleton End before dropping down to Ingleton, now in part surfaced but in the seventeenth century a pack-horse route linking the scattered farms with Dent and Ribblesdale to the north and the more open cross-Pennine routes to the south; in constant use by farmers, churchgoers and wayfarers.

The former farmhouse at Winterscales has been rebuilt, but there is a datestone above the barn door, clearly reused, inscribed I or J C 1667. There is always a risk in accepting datestones as positive proof of the date of the building but we know from the 1536-38 rental for the Furness estates that Winterscales and Ivescar consisted of six discreet tenements, two of which were occupied by members of the Calvert family. These tenements would have been distributed around the named places not necessarily within them. There is no I or JC listed for Winterscales amongst the inventories but in 1676 the death of John Cansfield of Ivescar is recorded, possibly the JC referred to. Winterscales/Ivescar was a vaccary of Furness Abbey as far back as the 13th century and was described in 1591 as comprising both Old Close and New Close, clear evidence of early enclosure and improvement. Barns often survive where the farmhouse has been re-fashioned and at Ivescar the former farmhouse is now used as a stock building or store. The large, imposing barns at nearby Weathercote and the Hill Inn testify to the importance of the holdings and there are cases where only a barn, or ruined barn, survives of a former tenement as at Ribblehead House further up the valley.

Bruntscar and Hodge Hole lie along the farm track to the south of Ivescar. There were three houses at Bruntscar. The building to the south is in a semi-ruinous state and appears to have originally been a laithe house of the mid-seventeenth century, the house to the north bears the datestone of 1689 and was clearly the comfortable home of a successful yeoman farmer, listed as Bruntscar Old Hall. Laithe houses are typical of the dales with barn and byre sharing the same roof as the domestic quarters. Built along the hillside, lining the road, they were the homes of relatively prosperous farmers. Nearby Hodge Hole Barn is recorded on the Historic Environment Record YDNPA07-MYD35858 as a barn with shepherd’s accomodation. Small but stone built and with a massive limestone plinth, the cottage is a rare survivor. It is not mentioned in the inventories but was probably the home of one of the many parishioners whose residence was not thought worthy of recognition, another is Dry Gill barn to the south east of Ingleton, a relic well worth preserving. Ellerbeck has been rebuilt but the barns and outbuildings survive. All these farmsteads lie at the foot of a low limestone outcrop separating the improved farmland from the open moor, on or near the spring line. Before them lie the meadows, which in this early period would have reached down to the rush covered moss in the valley bottom. Behind Chapel-le-Dale is Gillhead on the edge of Scales Moor. There is evidence of 16th century fabric within the building and the datestone has been repainted to read 1607 but this is too early for the present building, and should probably read 1687 or 1697. Nearby Low Scales farmhouse also dates back in part to the late 17th century. The hamlet of Chapel-le-Dale formerly known as Ingleton Fells with its Chapel of St Leonard lies to the south, completing this area of settlement. Across the valley is the Hill Inn, a former farm, with the datestone 1615, and the now deserted settlement of Southerscales.

The lordship of Twisleton, which can be traced back to the thirteenth century extended over Scales Moor and included much of Ingleton Fells. It is an area of moorland with scattered farms but the manor house itself was rebuilt in c.1717. Scar End farmhouse is listed as having 17th century origins and Twisleton Dale House is another early laithe-house. In 1565 Richard Shireburn of Stonyhurst bought the manor from William Redmayne. In 1571 16 tenants were recorded. Following disputes with the tenants or husbandmen in 1625, the rights of the lordship were defined by Manorial Decree, recorded in detail in R.R. Balderston’s “Ingleton Bygone and Present” published c.1888. Richard Shireborne as Lord of the Manor held 90 acres of improved, enclosed land for his own use and 190 acres to be enclosed by the tenants as part of their holdings. This included Scar Close and the Ellerbeck tenement. It is clearly the case that enclosure and the consequent improvement of land was making rapid progress.

To the south of Ingleton lies the open, undulating farmland of Moorgarth. Open moors lie further to the east around Goatgap but in this early period the work of improvement must have been making considerable inroads into the waste. Moorgarth lies within the Ingleton coalfield so there has since been considerable disturbance in the landscape, now thankfully restored. According to the inventory of 1646 Richard Lowther, Lord of the Manor of Ingleton, owned a coal pit and worktools worth £3.6.8d but the mining rights were leased by his son to his aunt Frances Walker and on her death the colliery passed to her four children. The scale of operations within this period was very limited.

There are few references in the wills or inventories to individual holdings within Ingleton itself. The Bank and Seedhill are still identified as such. Seedhill was formerly one house and is dated to the mid to late 17th century and two of the cottages on the Bank retain features from the same period. John Sigswicke of Well in Ingleton may refer to the spring that feeds the water fountain on the Bank near the church, if the name is to have any particular significance. Cross Farm lies on the eastern edge of the town. It was already an old farm when re-used as the parish poor house in the eighteenth century and the datestone on the barn is inscribed 1675. The name is derived from its location on the junction of the Hawes road with the original coach road to Clapham and Settle. That the junction was originally marked by a cross remains within folk memory.

Between Ingleton and Coldcotes, strung out along the old coach road along the southern flanks of Ingleborough, are the farms of Fell End, Yarlsber, Slatenber, Holly Platt, Duck Dub and High Leys. Duck Dub is a typical laithe-house. Holly Platt must have had a similar origin. Its left and right hand ridge stacks on the former gables are 17\textsuperscript{th} century but in the early 19\textsuperscript{th} century, it was substantially rebuilt. Slatenber also had its origins in the late 17\textsuperscript{th} century and forms an important farm group with the large, imposing barn set back from the road, its main door leading directly to the green lane linking the farm to the fields, a narrow band of improved land at the foot of the high sheep grazing pastures of Ingleborough.

On the edge of the parish, below the coaching road, lies the hamlet of Coldcotes. So many of its farm houses and cottages retain evidence of their 17\textsuperscript{th} century origins that it has evidently changed little in size. Brackenber Farmhouse with its datestone C E I 1696 is another typical laithe house with an adjacent outhouse (now a cottage) and barn. Withens is listed on the National Heritage List for England as having a late 17\textsuperscript{th} century rear wing and the front of Knott’s View is listed as a continuous outshut to a 17\textsuperscript{th} century house.

Finally Skirwith to the north of Ingleton, mentioned so frequently with such a variety of spelling, lies in ruins, having been demolished by the owners of Ingleton Quarry. Only one barn survives.

These were the relatively comfortable homes of the husbandmen, tenant farmers and land holders of Craven, whose wills and inventories speak for them, revealing so much of their lives, so often ignored by contemporary writers.

\textit{7. The Glossary}

The glossary is not complete despite our best efforts. Where words are obsolete or in dialect, the transcriber is struggling, not helped by poor spelling, worn documents and sometimes obscure handwriting. The vocabulary is that of a rural community of local gentry, farmers, husbandmen and labourers living in relative comfort with specialist tools and utensils and a precision in defining farm stock that is quite remarkable. It also reflects the importance of domestic industry before the onset of the industrial revolution with an emphasis on the production of textiles within the home. It was compiled from a wide variety of sources, the most important of which are listed in the bibliography.
Acknowledgements

Our gratitude for the support we have received must go first to the staff at the Lancashire Archives Office in Preston. Their patience in helping us to track down some of our more obscure references was over and above the call of duty. We must also single out our Chairman, Dr David Johnson, for his generosity in sharing his research and unfailing encouragement and Frank Gordon for the delightfully detailed drawings on the title page and frontispiece. In addition to our team of transcribers, we owe thanks to John Bentley and Mike and Mary Slater for their encouragement and contributions. Thanks also to the staff of the Borthwick Institute, at the University of York, and to Alan King for the wills from the Brenda Capstick Collection. Every care has been taken in the preparation of this book and all the information has been carefully checked and is believed to be correct at the time of publication. However we cannot accept responsibility for any errors or omissions inadvertently made.

BANKS, John of Coldcoats
Will and inventory 1663

In the name of god Amen : The sixteenth day of January In the fifteenth year of the reigne of our Soveraigne Lord Charles the Second by the grace of god king of great Brittaine & the Defender of the faith etc: Anno domini 1663 I John Banks of Cold Coates within the Parish of Ingleton & County of Yorke being sick & weak in body, but of good & perfect memory (praised be god for the same) doe make & ordayne this my last Will & Testament in manner & forme followeing. That is to say. First & principally I commend my soule into the mercifull hands of Almighty God my Creator hopeing & assuredly trusting through the precious death & bloodshed of Jesus Christ my Saviour & Redeemer to be made partaker of everlasting blessednesse And as for my body I commend the same to the ground from whence it came to be buryed in the Church of Ingleton aforesaid at the discretion of my frends. And as for my worldly Estate I doe hereby dispose thereof as followeth. Viz : I give & bequeath unto John Banks my eldest sonn All my Messuage Lands Tenement of what nature or quality soever with thappurtanances situate & being in Cold Coates aforesaid of the yearly rent of xij vij d. To have & to hold the same unto him, his heires and assignes forever For & under the performance of the several Legacies & bequests hereafter mencioned,
& for & under the performeing alsoe & fullfilling of such Provisoes and condicions as herein are made & provided Vizt; Provided that hee permitt & suffer Alice Banks his mother quietly to enioy the whole Messuage Lands & Tenement with thappurte-nances before bequeathed until such tyme as hee shall accomplish the full age of one & Twenty yeares For & towards the bringing up of himself & the yonger children & afterwards according to Law & Custome (except herein excepted) And Provided alsoe that hee pay unto his two sisters Alice & Elizabeth Banks Twenty pounds a piece att their severall respective accomplishements of the age of one & twenty yeares; And unto James Banks his brother the Summe of twenty five pounds, at such tyme as hee shall accomplish the like Age. Or otherwise if hee refuse or neglect to pay the said sev-erall & respective Summes of money, to his said sisters & brother in manner & forme before limited, & according to the purport & true meaning of this my Testament:
Then my will & mind is that hee shall permit & suffer each of them peaceably to enjoy the severall Closes & parcells of ground hereafter mencioned until such tyme as the said severall summes shall unto every of them be duely & respectively payd. That is to say Alice Banks to enioy the two Closes called great Stone=haw & little Stone=haw.
And Elizabeth Banks to enioy two halfe Acres of ground the one lyeing in a place callen the litle Raw, & thother on a place called Brackenbir betwixt the grounds of Adam Paley and one Close called Mire Land Close. And James Banks his said brother to enioy all that one close called the Goose mire: every of my said children payeing discharinge & doeing the severall & proportionable rents, dues dutyes suits & services respectively due or to become due out of such their severall shares & proportions, dureing the time of such their enjoymet thereof. And moreover it is hereby further Provided that if in case my goods (being prized by fower honest neighbours or friends) will not fully discharge all my debts & funerall expences; Then Alice my said wife shall hereby have full power & authority to sell or otherwise to dispose of as shee thinks fitt, All that one parcel of arable & meadow ground lyeing on Brackenbir aforesaid next unto the grounds of Henry Greenfield called the Borwaynes & containing by estimacion three roods, be it more or lesse: Shee the said Alice payeing unto my said sonne James the Summe of five pounds at the time of his accomplisheing the age of one & twenty yeares: Item my will & mind is that my said eldest son John shall have one great Arke a pair of the best Bedstocks, & one great table; And I bequeath unto my daughter Alice one great brasse pott, to my said daughter Elizabeth one little Chiste, And to my son James one great Chist: And as for all the rest of my goods moveable & unmoveable herein not disposed of I give & bequeath the same unto the said Alice Jur my wife she payeing my debts & funerall expences And lastly I doe hereby nominate & appoint her sole Executrix of this my last Will desireing my good friends Richard Johnson, James Whitehead & Leonard Wildeman to be Supervisors thereof In Witness whereof unto this my last Will & Testament, revoking all other Wills by me formerly made I have put my hand-marke & seale the day & year above written

HOLMES Thomas of Ingleton
Will and inventory 1626

In the Name of God, Amen, this tenth day of may, An° dm 1626 I Thomas Holmes of Ingleton in the Countie of Yorke yeoman, beinge sick in bodie, but of good and perfecte memorye, the lord be praysed for it, doe ordaine and make this my last Will and Testament in manner and forme followinge, First I bequeath my soule into the hands of Almightye god, to be saved for Christ my Redeemers sake, by Whose Merits I hope assuredly to be Inheritor of his everlastinge kingdome of heaven, And my bodie to be buried in the parshe Church of Ingleton, in the Chancell, as neare where my Wife was buried as can be possible. Item where as I have Fiftie poundes now in the hands of John Redmaine of Thornton hall Esquir twentie Nobles whereof Samuell Knipe payed unto me as he affirmed which I Doe not denye, out of Richard Cansfelds fine, for his Tenement in Thornton, Item yt is my Will and mynd that the fortie three poundes sixe shillinges and eighte pence which Remaineth my sonne James Holmes shall have to him and his heires for ever Towards his preferment, he beinge as yet unprovided for.
Item that whereas Thomas Redmaine of Setle gentleman, doth owe me by Articles and bond Fiftie poundes and also Fiftie shillings for buyinge him a suite of apparell afterward in setle and twentie Nobles which I lent him in the house of William Lawson of Gigleswicke about some Eighte or nyne yeares since, Item I give and bequeath all these said sommes of monye unto my said sonne James, for and towards the pay-ment of my debtts undischarged at the day of the date hereof, Also whereas olde Mis-tris Redmaine hath entered the last yeare into the Netherland, which oughte and is myne, soe continueth this yeare, beinge of the value of Nynetene poundes by yeare. Item I give and bequeath that to my said sonne James, And if she doe disclayme the possession of this yeare now beinge, then my mynde is that my sonne James shall take the Rent for the yeare paste of her, Att the settinge downe of m'r Redmaine her sonne, And whereas I did stand bond for her husband in london to one Bateman a felt maker in the penall somme of Three score poundes, And I was aindged to pay such sommes of money into the highe court of Chancerye, that was then ordered as may appeare, And the said Bateman by comandement from my lord Chancheler was appointed to passe me over a letter of Attourney against the said M's Ann Redmaine which was ad-ministratrix to her said husband, to sew take and Recover of the said mistris Redmaine all such sommes of money costs and damages as mighte [ ] growe due by the said letter of Attourney now in my custodie, Item I give all that unto my said sonne James. Item Eighte poundes which John Farlton of Ingleton at fellend doth owe me [ ] I give and bequeath the same unto my said sonne James, And one bill obligatorie which Alexander Procter of Skiroth doth owe me, Also one bond of fortie shillings whiche Fleemings of Astwicke oweth me, I give them all unto my said sonne James, Item whereas Thomas Cumberland of the stony gate in nether bentham doth owe me twen-tie shillings whiche I appointed him to pay to Stephen Guy of Wenington grene, and yet hath not discharged the same, I give it to my said sonne James, that he may dis-charge it, Item twentie sixe shillings whiche Raphe Sigswicke of Dente doth owe me, Item Thomas Wetherhird oweth a 22s piece of gould whiche I lent him, unless m'r Redmaine of Thornton will take a Course with me for it, Item John Sigswicke of this towne smith oweth me sixe shillings sixe pence all whiche somes I give to my said sonne James, Item wheras there is certaine Clauses in the last Will and testament of Myles Foxcroft deceased my late son in lawe, touchinge the tenement here at Ingle-ton, whereon we now live and these Clauses as by the Will shall appeare, are that all more money as shall or may be made of the said ground or tenement, should come to and Remayne unto me the said Thomas holmes, myne heires and assignes for ever, And Rather it was agreed on, before the makeinge of the said Myles his Will, that he was Informed that the said ground would not give soe much money, by ten pounds at the leaste, And then did I undertake to make it upp, out of myne owne estate whateuer it wanted, and Accordinge to myles his Will, Item yt is my Will that all the groundes and tenement shall be forthwith soulde, and the monies comynge for the said grounds and Tenement to be presently payd to his Wiffe my daughter and her Child, And if she will not willingly Assent Then they shall set on and sell the groundes and tenement and pay her the monie, Accordinge to the true intentes and meaninges there of, Item all my beddinge (vizt) three Feather beds  three Caffe beds whereof one is but an ill one, and that ill one my daughter hath and I have a better of hers, and she hath another much better of myne, which lyeth under her best fether bed, I am Content that she have that in lue of the other, if she be soe pleased and for myne and all other the rest of my beddinge and all my lininges I give to my said sonne James, Also all Bedsteads, tables, frames, seates, formes, chaires stooles with the Iron cradle, two Re-koncrokes in the hall and kitchinge, two paire of tonges, two spitts in the hall and kitchinge, And such Cushons as there are, I give them all to my said sonne James, Item all my brewinge vessells  Fire vessells  Chaffing dishe, all my Puther vessells, woorden vessells and all other my houshould stuffe and Implements of houshould, I give and bequeath to my said sonne James, But it is my mynd that few or none of them, as the beds, bedsteads, tables frames wood vessell brueinge vessell, these shall not be taken away from my daughter soe longe as she keepeth house heare, Except, that if she will not sell the ground within this Five yeares, Then my sonses Robert and James in my stead, shall take away the same, and use the said houshould stuffe at their pleasure And besides Convert the grounds to the use accordingly as they were intended, Item I give And bequeath unto my daughter marie Storres my best browne Cow, and two barrels the greatest but one of the bigger sorte, and the biggest of all of the lesser sort, Item  I give and bequeath to my grandchild John Foxcroft the why calfe newly taken of the Cowe, to be put to the best use and behoofe of him, by my sonses Robert and James, and if he dye before he come to age, Then the benefite hereof to Redoune to James, Item my other two kyne and my litle gray nagge I give and bequeath to my sonne James, But I would have him, before my sister in law at Richmond should take it unkindly to let her have the better Cow, or the nage, Item my Will and mynde is, the debte which I owe unto my brother in law, Leonard Procter of Ellerbecke be payd as followeth, Five poundes within one half yeare of the mariage of his first daughter, Five poundes more after the mariage of his nexte daughter, and five poundes more after the mariage of his third daughter, in or about the like tyme, And other five poundes more (Whiche is more than I owe him) all things dueley considered,

In the name of god amen, I Roger Paley of Ingleton in the County of yorke Tanner being sick in body, yet of sound & perfect minde & memorie praised be god for the same, doe make publish & declare this my last will & testament in manner and forme following. First & principally I commit my soule into the hands of allmighty god my maker & Creator, trusting through the precious bloodshed of my Saviour Jesus Christ to be made partaker of Eternall blisse in heaven. And for my body I commit the same to the earth from whence it was taken and the Christian buriall thereof to be at the discretion of my Executrix hereafter named. And for my temporall estate which god of his mercy hath lent me, I give & dispose of the same in manner & forme following. First it is my will & minde, & I doe give and bequeath unto my sonne John Paley (if he be living) the summe of fourer pounds to be paid unto him at the end of one whole yeare after my decease, or soe sooner as he shall Lawfully demand the same, he giving such Lawfull release or releases to my Executrix, or any other person or persons relateing to her as shall be meet & expedient for the further confirmacion of such my bequeste towards her, as is in this my last Will more at large hereafter expressed. Item it is my will & minde, & I doe give & bequeath unto my sonne in law Edmond Millner one shilling. Item I give & bequeath unto the three doughters of my said sonne in law, Elizabeth, Agnes & Issabell Millner tenn shillings a peece to be paid to them at such time & times as they shall come to yeares to give such Lawfull acquitances or other discharges for the same, as is & shall be by law requisite & neceseary And it is my will & minde that if any of them doe dye before they come to Lawfull yeares to receive & give acquitances or other discharges for the same, that then, & in such cases, such part or parts to goe & fall to the Survivour & survivours thereof. Item I give to my doughter in law dorathy Paley the summe of twelve pence Item I give & bequeath unto my doughter Jane Wilcock wife of William Wilcock the summe of twelve pence in full of all filiall or childe portions which she may claime. Executrix of this my last Will & testament I make my doughter Elizabeth Paley, And doe give unto her all the rest of my goods & Chattells moveable & imoveable, And I doe alsoe give & bequeath unto my said doughter Elizabeth Paley All that my messuage tenement and tenant right Whatsoever within the mannor & Lordshippe of Ingleton aforesaid, as the same is & stands divided betweene my sonne in law William Wilcock & me, and all my whole right & tytle there unto, to be holden of the Lord or Lords of the said mannor by the annuall or yearely rent of According to the Custome of the said mannor, And I doe hereby utterly renounce & make void all other former Wills and Testaments whatsoever by me formerly made. VOICES FROM THE PAST
In the name of god amen, the twentith day of February in the yeare of our Lord god One thousand six hundred sixty seaven. I Edmond Taylor of Ingleton in the County of york, being sick in body, but sound & perfect in memory (praised be god for the same) doe make this my last will & testament in maner & forme Following First & principally I Comend my soule to Allmighty god my Creator, Assuredly beleeeving that I shall receive full pardon & free remission of all my sinns, and be saved by the precious death & merritts of my blessed saviour & redeemer Christ Jesus, & my body to the earth from whence it was taken to bee buried in such decent & Christian maner as to my Executrix hereafter named shalbe thought fitt & convenient, And for the settleing of my temporall estate, and such goods Chattells & debts which it hath pleased god to bestow upon me I doe order give & bequeath the same in maner & forme Following First whereas I have by my deed pole under my hand & seale beareing date before these presents for the Consideracion of one hundred pounds therein mencioned & acknowleded to bee satisfied & paid Have granted bargained & sold unto Grace Hedges wife of Nicholas Hedges of the Citty of London Glasier the moyety or one halfe parte of two Closes thone of the said Closes called Southyholme & the other Tomholme, that is to say, the west sides of the said Closes, with other grounds & beast gates in the said deed mencioned, yet nevertheless it is my will & mind that the said Grace Hedges her heires Executors or Assignes shall pay unto Issac Taylor & Edmond Taylor the sons of my brother william Taylor deceased, the sume of tenn pounds of lawfull money of England, when the younger of them the said Issac & Edmond shall accomplish the full Age of twenty & foure yeares, Provided that they the said Issac Taylor & Edmond Taylor shall seale a generall release of all claimes & demands which they or either of them may pretend to have of, or unto all or any parte or parcell of the premisses in the said deed mencioned, But if they the said Issac & Edmond refuse to seale & deliver such generall release, being thereunto desired, then this bequest of tenn pounds to bee utterly void. And further whereas I have by my other deed pole beareing date likewise before these presents & for the Consideracions therein menioned granted bargained & sold the other moyety or halfe part of those two closes called Southyholme & Tomholme with some other ground & beast gates in the said last recited deed Pole mentioned unto my wife Mary Taylor & to her heires & assignes, yet nevertheless for the Love & affection which I beare to the said Issac Taylor & Edmond Taylor & in full Liew & satisfacon of all maner of Claimes or tytles which they or either of them may hereafter pretend to have, of or unto the premisses in the said last recited deed with thappurtances, I doe give & bequeath unto the said Issac & Edmond the sume of five pounds when the younger of them shall accomplish the said age of twenty & four yeares Provided that they the said Issac & Edmond shall seal & generall release of all claimes & demands which they or either of them may pretend to have of or unto all or any parte or parcell of the premisses in the Last recited deed mentioned with thappurtances But if they the said Issac & Edmond refuse to seal such generall release of the premisses (being thereunto desired) then this my said bequest of five pounds to bee utterly void. And further for the better assureing surely making & confiring of both the said recited deeds & the premisses therein contained with thappurtances I doe give & bequeath unto the said Grace Hedges & my said wife mary Taylor, and to their heires & assignes to the onely use & uses in the said deeds mentioned, As in & by the said deeds more at large appears To have & to hold the same to them the said Grace Hedges & Mary Taylor & to their heires & Assignes according to the tenor & effect of the said deeds under the Annual rents and services therein contained. Item I give & bequeath unto my nephew Charles Bouth the sum of five shillings & to his sister Elizabeth now wife of Christopher Sidgwick the sum of two shillings & six pence. Item I give & bequeath to soe many Children in Ingleton as I am godfather unto to each of them 2s 6d Item I give & bequeath unto margret the doughter of myles Foxcroft & Jane the doughter of Leonard Foxcroft to either of them five shillings. Item I give unto my said wife mary Taylor all the benefitt & advantage of the remainder of a Lease made to me & others, from Mr. Anthony Bouch or Mr. Henry Bouch or thone, or both of them of their Lordshippe of Ingleton aforesaid with its appurtances (That is to say) my propporcionable parte thereof, And I doe make my said wife mary jur Taylor sole Executrix of this my last will & testament And doe give unto her my said Executrix all the rest of my goods Chattells & debts whatsoever. hereby renouceing & makeing void all former wills & testaments by me made either in words or writeing, And doe declare this & none other to bee my last will & testament In witness whereof I have put my hand & seale the day & yeare above written

Names are grouped under the family name. This does not however denote a family relationship, which could only be established by further research. The spelling of surnames is taken from the original document. Wills are shown as ‘w’ or ‘w nun’ for nuncupative and inventories as ‘i’. Other documents are indicated as ‘ab.’ for abstract and ‘decl.’ for declaration.
